

Hello. Jesus here. I should begin with a disclaimer that I am in cartoon form. I'm not saying the artist did a bad job drawing me, just that it's not an exact thing. Also, in these sessions, she's going to do her best to represent me, as she understands me from scripture. So cut her some slack; she's trying. Her answers will be in the first person.

Session 2: What if I kind hate being alive?

I appreciate your inviting me to speak with you today. There are a lot of questions people have, a lot of feelings people have.

In this session, we will discuss the question: What if I kinda hate being alive?

People tell me that all the time. They say things like:

- 1) I get tired of pretending. I don't feel smiling. I don't feel like even getting out of bed anymore. I'm afraid if I start crying, I'll never stop.
- 2) Sometimes I think about dying, wonder if anyone would even miss me.

This panel is about honesty, so it's okay to admit how you feel, even if it's messy.

First off, I've thought a lot about death, obviously. It's overrated. Been there, done that. Honestly, I'm glad that part is behind me.

But yeah, the universe would miss you. You are here for a purpose. Jeremiah 29 says (my paraphrase): "I know the plans I have for you, and they are really, really good: full of blessing, peace, purpose, and hope."

You were created for a purpose, and you can make the world exponentially better, just by hanging on.

Sometimes, all you can do is just keep breathing. But if you ask God, He will come. He is our Rescuer; it's His name.

If you are willing to do things my way, I can give you a great life. Won't be easy, but when is life ever easy, anyway? I'll be with you always, and we'll face stuff together.
